Getting Started as a Paid On-Call Volunteer

Once a candidate has been accepted, they will begin a 12-month probationary period, during which they must attend and successfully complete all required training components. This training is designed to provide you with the skills you need to operate safely and efficiently as part of an emergency response team. Anyone failing to meet this requirement will be dismissed. At no time will a new volunteer respond to any emergency incidents prior to receiving authorization by the Department's Officers. Once the Officers have approved you to begin responding to emergency incidents, you will be issued a radio, and necessary equipment, and will be expected to sign up for duty shifts to begin your service with the community.

Frequently Asked Questions

Do Volunteers Get Paid?

Yes, volunteers are paid a flat fee (stipend) for all training drills, duty company responses, and calls.

What training will I receive?

All candidates are required to attend a Department Orientation, and successfully complete a 120-hour initial Fire Fighter Training Program. Firefighter/EMTs are also required to successfully complete a 250-hour Emergency Medical Technician class. All training is offered by the Department. During the Department Orientation, you will complete any needed paperwork and will be provided with an overview of the Department.

When do I go on calls?

Once the Department Officers have approved you to respond, you will sign up for duty shifts with seasoned personnel and issued a radio that will alert you of a call. You are not expected to leave your regular place of employment to respond to calls without your employer's approval. You are expected to respond anytime you are in the community, as determined by the need of the call.

How long do calls last?

It varies depending upon the nature of the call. Medical calls can be as short as 20 minutes or as long as 3+ hours, if the patient needs to be transported to the hospital. Fire calls, where there is actually fire, last a minimum of 1 hour, but can last up to 6 hours. The best rule of thumb is 3 hours for medical aid calls, and 2-4 hours on a working fire call. The majority of calls are for medical aid.

How often do calls occur?

Calls vary greatly; we may have several calls a day, or we may go several weeks without a call. We responded to 140 calls in 2017.

What else does the Fire Department do in addition to responding to fire and medical aid calls?

The Clallam Bay/Seki Fire & EMS Department is very involved in the community. We routinely provide EMS standby at school sporting events and have several active Public Education programs. Our EMS program provides CPR and First Aid training and our Fire Prevention program provides fire safety and emergency preparedness information at many community events and within the Cape Flattery School District. Many of these non-emergency activities would not be possible without the support of our volunteers. As a volunteer, you will be encouraged to participate in these activities.

If I have prior experience, can I receive credit for it?

This will depend upon your experience and will be determined by the Department's Officers on a case-by-case basis. Any certifications or documentation that shows experience should be attached to your application when it is turned in.
